To put it into perspective: as we learned during Japan, we'll have multiple days of data from various locations. We need to organize early on to account for that.

Please see the link on GMK home. I can change the word if needed, but I needed to keep it short.

Also, I'd like to re-cast that page as "Colorado Data" and then have the statement about that data set.

Is that OK? It's not a wording change.

But MY PURPOSE is to set it up for future data sets (and statements).

We have a specific chain to review and post. I asked for a link on the front page to the data, which is already posted on the public facing page in the latest press release. We are still reviewing data for QAQC and I don't know if this is even the same data on the EPAOSC.org. Bottom line everything gets passed through EOC PIO and OCG before posting.

I cannot. The data people or someone in the know needs to do that.

Then can you take the data tables from it and post them on our site? Media was referred to that site for the data when it was posted. It's public. So we can just pull it and post it there.

Sorry, I forget if someone already replied to this.

Not without explicit approval. EPAOSC.org is for our responders and we generally don't link to it for public sites.

Can we link to the data tables that are on epaosc.org?
